Posted: Nov. 26, 2025

The Village of Tinley Park has been recognized in the 2025 Digital Cities Survey, which is presented annually by the Center for Digital Government.

The national recognition reflects Tinley Park's ongoing work to advance digital equity, data-driven operations, and smarter service delivery for the community. Tinley Park took fifth place in the "Population of up to 75,000" category.

"This award reflects the hard work that our IT Department puts in each and every day to ensure our information systems are serving the needs of staff and the community," Mayor Michael Glotz said. "We're incredibly proud of our IT staff, and this is a well-deserved honor for them."
